“ Dougy was someone that came into my life at a early age. He brought into my life by my cousin Dee. When Dougy found out I was going to esthetician school and doing makeup he was in full support of me. Dougy was the goofiest , sweetest , and determined person i knew. He definitely was not afraid to snap back. Dougy is deeply missed and he will forever be in my heart. You're in a better place now , no more treatments or suffering. love you Dougy. rest peacefully

“ Learning to live life without you in it will be a very difficult process. Every day for the past 9 yrs & 2 mos has consisted of mostly you. We vowed so long ago that no matter what, we would always be there to take care of & look out for each other so that we would never feel alone in this cold world. That promise has been fulfilled on both ends. No matter what, we were always there for each other & we were ALWAYS each other's top priority. I can recall so many days when you were feeling your worst, your main concern was always about me, Lore, & Jay. How we were doing & how all of this could be affecting us. Being so selfless at a time when it could have been all about you. You may not have been ready to leave this world so soon, but you prepared. Towards the end, you wanted nothing less than love, peace, & unity for all of your loved ones. You knew that it was no easy task to stick by your side no matter what (you knew that you came with alot), it would have been much easier to walk away. You understood that which is why you so often stopped just to let me know how much that you appreciate my patience, hanging in there with you when many fell by the waist side, & showing you your self-worth & value when you felt that the world had abandoned you. We went through so many difficult times over the yrs & lost so many close loved ones but we knew that as long as we had each other, everything would be ok. And it was. We relied solely on our mutual faith in God to bring us through. Each & every time, he did. We meant the world to each other & that will never change. Until i see you again my partner in this thing called life.....Your light will always shine!

“ I met Dougie when he was a little boy, even then he was quiet but when he got use to you he was always very polite and respectful to everyone he met. He was always a joy to be around, always smiling and laughing. I came to love him, his sister and Momma like blood and i always will. I'm going to miss him but i know i will see him again and Debbie. I am so sorry for the families loss.
