“ God called another Angel Home! Your pain is gone, your fight is over. You will remain the hearts of all that knew you. You keep a watch over your Momma, she now has that special angel above. Gone but will ever be forgotten. May God Bless all your family at this time of pain. Amen.

“ Words can't explain how I feel right now. You were a wonderful soul and had such a great spirit even though you were going through so much. Through out it all you remained positive and you put up a fight all the way to the end. I will forever cherish the memories we shared together and the conversations we had. God put you in my life for a reason and although it was only for three years it was a great three years. I hope and pray that now that you've gone to a better place, you can finally rest peacefully and suffer no more. Until we meet again, rest easy Adrian....
