“ What a pleasure to have met Ms Pleasant while getting my hair done at the same salon we both attended. Beautiful lady with a sweet, sweet spirit, but even more beautiful than that, Edison, the way you loved your grandmother, showed up for her in ways that made my heart happy. As you navigate this life absent of your grandmother, please know that you did an amazing job showing up for her while you tackled work and school. □ your grandmother is so proud of the young lady you have become, although she wouldn't witness you receiving your law degree, she knew that you were getting it. Stay encourage and continue to make her proud. Weeping may endure for a moment but joy is coming □ to the rest of the family, I know that your heart is hurting, God will give you the comfort you need to get through your everyday. lean on each other for support, when one is busy call another, if they are busy call Jesus he will be available to hear, heal and comfort. I will continue to pray for you all. RIP Ms. Pleasant. □
