“ Hey Uncle Gus! I'm sorry to say that we did bring the rain last week. It was fine going home weather wise, but the traffic took us by surprise. I'm going to miss you looking out for us. Also, the Lions didn't make it. They lost by one point the other day. Maybe they'll get there one day. The Lane will never be the same! Miss you! Rest well! Niece Rhonda(whatchu doing here?!)

“ Uncle Gus we shared a love of old westerns and spicy chili, and also the regret of the spicy chili the next day. You were not only my favorite uncle , but also my favorite neighbor for 17 years. Me and John would visit often under the massive tree in your front yard were you had befriended a rabid squirrel you had named charley just kidding he was not rabid just a little hood. You called me the soup lady a name I honor today. To my favorite cousins remember uncle gus has left you a legacy of baldness and laughter, but seriously remember Uncle Gus and Aunt Babara will be with you always in your heart, soul and DNA. Love, the soup lady.
