“ I miss you more than anyone could ever imagine, love you more than you will ever know. Everyday I think of you, I still find me a corner to sit and cry til I'm all cried out. A little time passes and I cry some more, a void that will never be filled a wound that will never heal a scar that will always be. A piece of me is gone never to come back. I say goodbye only for a while, we will see one another again and we will be reminded of the past only for a short time. No more hurt no more pain, only love and happiness. Til then I love you and miss you.
