“ My first day of 5th grade at a new school, this guy named Carlton was sitting at my table. It didn't take but about 5 seconds for me and him to hit it off and become friends. Thick as thieves from that moment on. I can remember him ridding my bus which was not his in middle school just so he could come over to hang and play ball. As we all do when growing older we didn't see each other as much but my last memories of Carlton was him being there for me when I lost my mom and dad. He was there to pay his respect but to also hold me up when I could barely walk. If the measure of a man is in his heart and love for those...then Carlton was a man of men!!! Fly high my friend, see you when I get there.
