“ The days go one and at times it seems like people expect me to just be okay. I'm not okay. I smile to stop from crying. I miss you so much. We were just getting started. We finally did something that we should have did years ago. I know it's selfish for me to want you here but my heart hurts for you. I just want you. Nothing feels right anymore. Nothing makes sense. You were my couple of forevers. We talked about the future and what was to come. We were finally doing it right this time. I don't understand any of this and I just wish things had a different outcome. I just want you back. I love and miss you so much. Please come see me in my dreams.

“ My love, I never imagined that I would have to go through this crazy life without you. My heart hurts and is truly broken. I'm trying to learn my new normal life without you but it's a struggle. The only thing I want besides for our kids to continue to be healthy and happy is you here. I miss you more than you will ever know. My couple of forevers are gone. I'll love you till never.
Your loving wife
