“ When Damon was younger, and we used to take our daughter DeLisa over, she couldn't wait to go to Damon's room upstairs, he always had such neat toys. Damon was always kind and patient with her, and at the time she could not say Tweety Bird, she would say Tweetly. That would make Damon laugh until he just about fell out. Good times. He will be missed by all. He was a good son, husband, father, and friend. He will be missed by all. For those who are grieving, including me, take comfort that he will always be in our hearts.
