“ Diane and I grew up in church together. She had such a bubbly personality. We always had fun and laughter when we met. She was a hard worker and was involved in many church activities. She will truly be missed.

“ *Hello,
My mother worked with Diane Clay at the Corps of Engineers, in the typing pool. Eventually, my mother became a typesetter. Diane was her best work buddy. They used to laugh and giggle a lot.*

My mother loved jazz. I don't recall if Diane loved jazz, but I wouldn't be surprised if Diane went with Momma to 4th Street at lunch to Tiff's Records on payday, so Momma could pick out a new jazz album. Or they ate chili cheese hot dogs in the Sears restaurant.

The first federal building where they worked was on the corner of 9th and Broadway, next to the Sears Building The Sears Building is still there today on Broadway, on the LGE property (tan building). Eventually the federal government operations moved into the federal building on Martin Luther King Jr. Place.

My mother died in 2005, and I recall that Diane came to the funeral home.

*Sincerely,
Daughter of Jane Cordery*
