“ I am so sorry Aunt Evelyn. I wrote R.I.P. Aunt Evelyn but I meant Aunt Dorothy. Please forgive me and charge it to my head and not my heart ... Again, my prayers and sympathy are with you and your family.

“ Con and I enjoyed our visits with Mrs. Diggs. She lived across the hall from us at Crescent Centre. She often talked about her students, and how much she loved teaching. She enjoyed her daily walks and was always dressed up, often wearing one of her hats. She loved meeting her friends for brunch at Buckhead's across the river and going to the Bunbury Theatre on Third Street. She was feisty, opinionated, and a tiny, little woman whom Con and I both looked up to. She will be missed.

“ To the family of Dorothy Lee Diggs, the wife of my belated cousin, Leo Diggs; and my mother, Louise Rudder Wilson, Louisville, KY; Mae Evelyn Rudder King, Chicago, IL; "Vera" Rudder Irons, Paducah, KY; (all deceased) and Dorothy Rudder Johnson, formerly of Chicago, IL, residing in Flint, MI who found her friendship and companionship, genuinely warm over the years as widows, would be offering their condolences... My sisters, Judy Ann Wilson, Louisville, KY; Robin Wilson, Ann Arbor, MI; and myself would her wonderful to interact with and also offer our condolences to the family. She will be truly missed but she will always be with each of you.

“ To the family of Dorothy Diggs, the wife of my belated cousin, Leo Diggs. She was a wonderful woman who was loved deeply by my mother, Louise Rudder Wilson, and her sisters: Mae Evelyn Rudder King, and "Vera" Rudder Irons (her late husband's deceased cousins) and their sister, Dorothy Rudder Johnson, Flint, Michigan, who were all born in Paducah, Kentucky. My sister, Judy Wilson and Robin Wilson offer our condolences to the family, friends and relatives as she was an individual we enjoyed interacting .
