“ My deepest condolences to the Eubanks family I would not be alive today if it were not for Dr. Eubanks. My mother was a diabetic and had a very high risk pregnancy, she was bedridden for a good part of it. Myself and my fraternal twin sister as well as my mother were in very grave danger. The decision was made for premature birth. Dr. Eubanks knew he could not save both of us, And chose who he thought was the strongest and focused his efforts on myself and my mother. I OWE the man my life. I was named after him. Through the years I was told my mother kept in touch with him to update him on my progress in life. As I've gotten older I have often wondered about the man who saved my life. I just found out about his passing today. I wish I could have thanked him personally for what he did. What a blessing it was to have been touched by his life. Thank you and god bless you DR. Eubanks.

“ Dr. Eubanks was instrumental in helping us adopt our now 27 year old son. He came to Ross' naming ceremony and even took pictures! We kept in touch over the years and was even willing to answer questions Ross had about his birth mother. He was an amazing man and will be missed. Joan & Mark Epstein

“ 31 years ago on Dec. 13th, 1982 Dr. Eubanks cursed when he discovered the situation. I suspect he wasn't a man who cursed regularly. Then he managed to bring a 7 lb 13 oz baby boy into the world alive when the umbilical cord was wrapped around his neck and body. It's historically known this is an especially dangerous situation for a baby and that it takes a highly skilled doctor to deliver the baby alive. Many babies haven't made it. Thanks to Dr. Eubanks-- the baby, my son, Cheyne Noel Alton, just turned 31 years old on Dec 13th, 2013 and has four children of his own. I'm very sorry to everyone for the loss of Dr. Eubanks.

“ My heart goes out to Miss Monica. She and I were aerobics buds during the Shpaenastics ye4ears. Your father was a calm and gentle giant of a doctor. . . . .
