“ God has taken away a kind hearted young man who always had respect for older people and would do anything for you plus give u his shirt off his back this is a sad time for his loving family and friends I don't lost another son but that's ok because he's reunited with his other 33rd brother's they say that God don't make mistakes but on this one I think he did but he's in a better place and we are going to remember the good times you forever will be missed we love you Joe and may your soul rest R.I.H
