“ It is so hard for me to say good-bye. Even as I am writing this I can hardly see for the tears that cloud my eyes. Judy and I became best friends around the age of seven and we have gone through many, many beautiful things together. All our children grew up together, and I fell in love with the entire family from Shu-Pie/MaMa and all the rest. To say I will miss her tremendously, will be an understatement, but I shall hold on to every single memory that she and I shared. But, let the peace of God rest in every heart Judy touched. Blessings to Andy, Kerry, Eric, Shu-Pie, everyone of her siblings, all her grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and every, relative and friends alike. We will all miss this lady. I love you Judy, but rest now, for I know you are with your Eternal Father in Heaven. Your forever friend, Morilyn Kaye

“ To the King Family:During these challenging times of your loved one's absence, draw strength in knowing and acknowledging God's everlasting love. Let God empower you to live and overcome the challenging days ahead of you. Cherish the memories that God has bestowed upon you, and pray with an attitude of faith, gratitude, and expectancy to allow God to begin your healing process.You have the Brown's Family (Cotter Homes Bldg. 8) deepest sympathy and love.
