“ I formally met Nichole almost ten years ago when I began working with her. I would often tease her and call her cuz because my maiden name is McClendon though we were never able to definitely determine it. She was a great coworker as well as being a great person! After she left the company, I would check on her from time to time through text message. Actually checked on her just a few months ago. I only met Matthew and Julia a couple of times, but I knew how proud she was of her kids! My prayers of comfort for the entire family during this time as well as in the future!
