“ Daddy,

49 years wasn't enough with you. You were my rock and my sports buddy. I loved having you over at the house watching Cardinal football and screaming our team on. Even when you went to the nursing home, we made it a point to have a Super Bowl party so you could join. I know things were never the same when Momma died. I think a large part of you left when she died. I will say when I held your hand Sunday when you died I knew it was time. You were ready to be with your love again. I hope you both are resting in the arms of the Lord. I told you Sunday not to fight for me cause I knew your health was declining and I meant that. I wanted you to be with Momma so you could be pain free. I will always love you and I thank you for being the best Dad ever. I will always look upon the stars and send my love. Rest easy Boatswain. I love you forever. Your daughter, Yolanda
